Letter To The Editor

Why only retailers?

Why does the council of Lac la Biche regulate the hours of the retail merchants only?

Why do they not regulate the closing hours and closing days of any other businesses in town?

Why regulate the hours of any merchant against his will?

Retail Merchant.

A graduate of the University of Toronto and Trinity College Cambridge, Professor Irving is well known as a writer and authority on many subjects. THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

Worthwhile leisure or recreation activities are all around you. You own home, your community and the area in which you live offer many possibilities. If you have not already done so, take time to discover the opportunities available to you.

LOOK AROUND YOUR HOME

Home is the place where people spend much of their leisure time. It usually offers facilities for individual and family fun. Many of your personal hobbies and interests are, naturally, part of your "at home" leisure-time activities. Reading, playing cards, sewing, working a crossword puzzle, arranging a collection, gardening — these are just a few of the many things you can do in your own home. They offer opportunity for you to develop confidence and give a feeling of accomplishment. You will be less likely to know boredom or loneliness when you have a variety of "at home" interests. It has been shown, too, that retired people who have, over the years, learned the value of worthwhile recreation activities at home adjust more easily to their new abundance of free time. Their lives have more direction and purpose, and frequently a leisure-time activity can become their full-time occupation.

B. McCutcheon

Many times recreation at home involves the whole family in an activity, such as family parties and get-togethers with friends and relatives, games, jaunts to parks and museums, or pursuing some common interests together. Shared recreation helps to create better understanding among family members, develops personal security, and builds a storehouse of wonderful experiences and memories of family fun. When planning family leisure-time activities, let all members share in selecting and planning recreation that will bring enjoyment to everyone. Croquet was a favorite of our grandparents. The family can take part and the space may be adjusted to the size of your lawn.

The relatively inexpensive recreation activities you enjoy at home are often the most worthwhile and satisfying. A backyard picnic costs no more than eating in the house and it can be twice as much fun! Money wisely spent for equipment for sport games or other hobbies to be used by all family members usually is one of the soundest investments you can make, if it provides fun and recreation for those who use it.

Easing Tight Money "Hard On The Banks"

TORONTO — The Daily Star here, in a news story on the Financial Page says that easing of tight money restrictions is hard on the Chartered banks. With tight money restrictions in effect, Banks can boost their prime interest rates to the maximum allowed by law and lend only in big amounts to best-risk customers. With easing of tight money regulations they are obliged to make small loans to small businessmen, farmers and individuals. They have a lot more work to do in supplying the credit needs of the "little fellow" at no increased interest rates and apparently members of the banking community consider this a hardship.

Athabasca County Matters Dispensed At July Meeting

The Athabasca County Council meeting for July got away to a good start by a heavy bit of work from the previous minutes. The drainage problem, involving I. Botten. J. McNamara, and others is still pending survey.

The John Good complaint in regard to culvert, ditch and road was investigated and reported that it was felt not feasible to ditch on Good's land. The complaint of B. Wisekelis had not been investigated. The councillor promised to "try and do something" in regard to the S. R. Souch road complaint.

The accounts were examined and ordered paid.

The school debenture by-law for $25,000 was passed to complete capital building projects in various schools.

Earl Baldwin, who complained in regard to the condition of his road, was informed the road would be rebuilt as far as $2,000 would go.

N. O. Jack approached the council in regard to obtaining right-of-way for the Colinton Mutual Telephone Co. Ltd. The company felt that the council should assist as it might be widening the road at some time. A committee of two was appointed to meet with two directors to atempt to sign preliminary agreements with ratepayers along the proposed route.

Secretary Leskiw reported notification in regard to the freight assistance policy on the movement of fodder, feed grain, etc. The railways will pay a percentage of the cost of movement of feeds. The maximum is 25 tons of feed grain and 10 tons of fodder moving over twenty-five miles. Maximum allowance will be $12 per ton on either feed or fodder.

The Prairie Farm Assistance made a routine request for applications, which must be filled by the county office before September 15, 1961.

A complaint of a culvert causing flood damage and a fence damaged when brush was burned had been settled before the meeting and a report was made.

The fencing of the gravel pit for county use was approved, and the rest of the pit will be available for ratepayers, providing they obtain a permit at the county office, setting out the use for which they desire the gravel.

Approval was given the arrangements made by hiring a gravel crusher.

A number of welfare cases were handled.

In response to a letter from the town of Athabasca, Hans Armfelt was named county representative on the Jubilee Park management committee.

Permission to register a transfer was granted Charles Senz to C. J. Buchanan on the NW 20-67-21-w4.

Permission to erect buildings were granted to F. G. Bunyan, on Lot 3, Block 5, Ambrose Shank, Subdivision, Leo M. Shank, Lot 34; a zoning by-law was left for more information and for drafting before presentation to the next council-meeting.

A land lease was granted Ken Wilson, of Perryvale on NW 10-64-23-w4.

Land sales were approved to Tommy Melton, Amber Valley on the SW 21-66-20-w4; Fred Renneman, Donatville, the NE 24-66-20-w4; George Whieldon, Perryvale, on the NE 8-64-22-w4; to H. A. Brietzkie, of Rochester on the NW 9-62-23-w4; to E. A. Jenkins, of Perryvale, on the NE 18-64-23-w4.

Permission to erect cattle crossing signs were granted to Steve Adamkiewicz, Mike Mochid and Dan Lys.

The sale of Meanook lots, municipal former office and log barn was confirmed to Mrs. A. Brown.

B. C. Hart was granted a leave of absence in addition to his regular holidays in order to make a trip to England.

Most people are ready to spend somebody else's money.

The writer of this weekly advice column is an 11-year-old boy. The advice he gives is strictly his own. It has not been changed by his parents or the editor. He welcomes letters from parents. If you want him to discuss your problem prite to ASK HENRY, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Henry:

I have eight grandchildren, and every week get rid of $3.00 or $3.50 in small distribution to the kids. I'm thinking of changing to putting that money in the old sugar bowl and once a month taking the whole family, including mom and dad, to a fine place for dinner. Which would you suggest would leave the finer memory of Granma? V.M.D.

Dear Granma V.M.D.:

You can't buy love. Your grandchildren will remember you better for being a nice helpful granma, not for occasionally giving them money or taking them to dinner.

HENRY

Dear Henry:

Will you please advise me on how to stop my 4-year-old boy from eating ants? Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled:

Oh, that mean thing is eating the lovely ants! Serve him some catsup and vegetables with them.

HENRY

Dear Henry:

I am having a lot of trouble with my 16-year-old son. He has been arrested a few times but never convicted. He goes around with "black leather jacket" boys who meet on street corners. I have been sick and have not been able to control him. He often talks back at me. What can I do? In Desperation.

Dear In Desperation:

It's too bad you have so much trouble with your boy. I am sorry but I can't figure out a solution to this problem because I guess I am a little young. Thanks for trusting me with your problem. I invite any reader who can figure out an answer, please write in and I will get it published.

HENRY

Dear Henry:

My daughter, age 8, bites her fingernails almost down to the roots. Bitter medication does not help. Concerned Mother.

Dear Concerned Mother:

Cut her fingernails more often.

HENRY

Dear Henry:

I am 6 years old. My mother is very nice but when it comes to spanking oh! oh! I am the one who gets hit. I love her but why is she this way? Rebeca.

Dear Rebeca:

I don't think parents are quite bad enough to hit their child without reason. Try not to give your mom a reason.

Radiation Committee Appoints Chairman

A former moderator of the United Church, Dr. James S. Thomson, is the new chairman of the Canadian Committee for the control of radiation hazards. He succeeds Dr. H. L. Keenleyside who resigned July 15.

Dr. Thomson is Dean of Divinity and Professor of Philosophy of Religion at McGill University. For a dozen years he was president of the University of Saskatchewan.

The committee for Radiation Hazards united more than 30 local branches of business and professional men, trade unionists, educationalists, churchmen and community leaders who believe that Canada's effort to achieve disarmament abroad should be based on a defence policy at home which excludes the use of nuclear disarmament.

POETS CORNER

Today

By Mrs. Emile Cadieux

If today was the day that Jesus could come,
Would you be ready dear friend?
Have you given up for Christ your all,
On Him does your life depend?
Have you looked on the whitened harvest
That stretches beyond the sea,
Then lifted up a tear-stained face
And said, Dear Lord send me?
There are millions of lost souls dying
Out on the shadows deep,
And have you heard the Saviour crying
Go now find my sheep?

Go and tell my loved ones
How I have been crucified,
And on the cross I shed My blood.
It was for them I died,
It was for them I arose again
On that bright Sabbath morn.
And if with Me they want to live
They must again be born.
Tell them I'll soon come back again
And take them home with Me
If only they'll trust in the Saviour
Who died on Calvary.

Smith-Spurfield Grant To Provide School Sports Area

At the July meeting of the School Committee of the County of Athabasca, consideration was given to the matter of the Recreational grant. A meeting had been held and the committee's approval was asked for a basball diamond, bleachers and skating rink. The committee approved.

Seven applications for bursaries were held pending further information. Recommendations from the superintendent and the principal of each applicant must be at hand before consideration.

The insurance on the school buildings, for which tenders had been invited, was granted to an Edmonton firm. The recommendations of John Long, music teacher at Edwin Parr, was left in abeyance.

There was a small correspondence file. Due his absence on holiday, there was no report from M. G. Gault(Superintendent of Schools.

Resignations were accepted with regret from Olga Roskewich, Norma J. Elgert, Harry Petryk, Mrs. R. V. Brubaker and Mrs. H. Danyluk. Leaves of absence were granted to H. Kossowan, Norma Bowen, Mrs. D. Hula, Mrs. T. Shwaga. The appointments of Miss M. Cook and Miss Noella Prather were confirmed.

Applications from M. J. Lund, Leslie M. Wood, Mrs. J. I. Jenkins, Mrs. J. Breckenridge, and a number of others, were referred to the Teacher Placement Committee.

The book rental fees were discussed and will be slightly increased this coming year. The schedule of fees will be published before the opening of school as customary.

Delegations were received from several people, mostly in regard to school bus stops.

A discussion of conveyances centred on whether panels must be discarded. Some discussion also ensued in regard to owning a school bus after age 65, or whether a previous motion on the matter referred only to driving.

The Property Management Committee reported. There is a large amount of work to be done in many of the schools: Edwin Parr, the Lower Campus, Cochester, Boyle, Ellscott, Lahaieville, Perryvale, Colinton, Calling Lake, Richmond Park, Grassland, Smith, for a total of $25,000. It was moved the School Committee recommend to the County Council to get a debenture of $25,000 and use on the schools this year to complete each particular school.

Bus Route 36 will be advertised for sale and advertisement for a driver on Bus Route 24.

Approval was given for caretakers' holidays.

It was reported the school was short of funds to send two students to Banff to the United Nations Short Course this August. It was moved the committee make up the shortage for one student only.

Personal Survival Duty, Not Dream

AEMO Must Be Recognized A Part Of Local Municipal Government

The spectre of a nuclear war is ever on the minds of people of the western world. To help them fully realise the danger, and be prepared to deal with it, a large number of people across Canada are actively engaged in federal, provincial and municipal civil defence planning to direct, aid and succor their fellow citizens in a time of national emergency.

Civil Defence should not be regarded as something apart from local civic government but rather a logical and necessary extension to deal with disaster situations. The Alberta Emergency Measures Organization, which came into being last month, has been set up to achieve just that.

The responsibility of AEMO includes the planning for continuity between the government and civil defence. Its aims are to prevent unnecessary loss of life and to integrate activities throughout the government system from federal to municipal level. It is responsible for the development of an overall provincial program of emergency planning, including the preparation of an Alberta Survival Plan.

Under the authority of AEMO the province is divided into four geographic zones, each with headquarters at a peace time location. These zones are (1) Peace River, taking in the northern areas of the province with Headquarters at Grande Prairie, (2) Northern Zone, around the Edmonton target area with Edmonton as headquarters. (3) Central area, around the Calgary target area with Calgary as headquarters, and (4) Southern zone, for the south eastern areas around Lethbridge and Medicine Hat with headquarters in the former city.

Each has a full time staff appointed by the parent organization, and during an emergency each zone headquarters will be the centre of emergency government acting under the authority and direction of the regional emergency headquarters.

The northern and central zones each have a probable target area designated by the federal government. A target area is one normally extending out to a radius of 15 miles from the assumed nuclear explosion point, or ground zero.

Thus it can be seen that the entire organization of civil defence is a spiderweb-like connection from the federal capital right throughout Canada. Every area must play its part and individual co-operation is also very necessary.

Another task of the EMO is to acquaint the public with the possibilities and dangers of nuclear war. Through it several booklets are available and two, "Eleven Steps to Survival", and "Fallout of the Farm" are of particular note. The former is reviewed in this issue and "Fallout on the Farm" is discussed in this week's issue of Alberta Country Life.

Officials at AEMO stress that the organization can also be useful in peace time. A cited example occured at Lamont late last year when a train ran into a school bus killing seventeen. The civil defence authorities swung into action immediately and it was afterwards stated that but for this prompt action loss of life would have been much higher.

11 STEPS TO SURVIVAL

"Eleven Steps to Survival," a booklet issued by the federal civil defence authority, explains ways and means of cheating the consequences of a nuclear bomb explosion. Anyone with an eye to the future would do well to read this booklet as insurance against all possibilities.

The eleven steps are:

(1) Know the Effects of Nuclear Explosions: An explosion causes a blaze of light and heat lasting approximately 15 seconds. It will start fires up to 20 miles away and will induce varying degrees of flash burn. The blast travels more slowly and ten miles away there is a time lapse of about 35 seconds. In that time a person caught in the open could find protection in a ditch or culvert, or behind a substantial wall, from flying debris. Fifteen miles is the dangerous radius.

(2) Know All the Facts About Radioactive Fallout: Fallout is the settling back to earth of all radioactive particles thrown into the air by the explosion. The amount of radiation that reaches the body is determined by (a) time since the explosion, (b) time exposed to fallout, (c) distance from the fallout, (d) shielding. Radioactivity weakens rapidly in the first few hours and after two days only about 1% would remain. This could still be dangerous. There is no protection in the open but a fallout shelter would be quite adequate.

(3) Know the Warning Signals and Have a Battery Powered Radio: There are three types of warning already installed in major areas. These are the alert, a steady note on sirens for three minutes or more, take cover, a rising and falling note on the sirens for three minutes or more, and all clear, announced only by radio.

(4) Have a Shelter: The Government will shortly issue pamphlets on backyard fallout shelters, group shelters and blast shelters. In addition to be available to the people these will also be placed in public libraries.

(5) Have Fourteen Days Emergency Supplies: The booklet gives a large list of possible requirements.

(6) Know How to Prevent and Fight Fires: Fallout will not start coming down under about a half hour after an explosion so all fires should be dealt with in that time. The initial flash will cause fires outwards for 20 miles and if all the small fires are quelled quickly the chance of a conflagration will only be slight.

(7) Know First Aid and Home Nursing: Medical help will not be generally available in the damaged areas for several hours after an attack. Doctors and nurses will have time to treat only the most seriously injured. In areas of fallout the help might be days getting through.

(8) Know Emergency Cleanliness: After the second day in shelter there is no danger in leaving it for a few seconds for essential tasks. Until then tightly covered garbage pails should be used.

(9) Know How to Get Rid of Radioactive Dust: Shake and brush all clothes that are suspected of having radioactive "dust" on them. Everything else tightly covered will be safe.

(10) Know Your Municipal Plan: It is important that every municipality have a plan for war emergency, and it is just as important that every individual know that plan.

(11) Have a Plan for Your Family and Yourself: A widely varying list of suggestions and preparations will help every family decide the best course.

This brief summary only serves to show the value of the booklet, and civic and family-minded people everywhere should be sure of obtaining a copy for more detailed information and assistance.

NO BEARSKIN COULD MEAN BARE HEAD

TIMMINS — Reports that Canadian Guards regiments are running short of bearskin hats have reached Mayor Leo Delvillano, and he says he'll get them if they want them.

"I know of hunters who shot bears this spring and buried them where they lay," said the mayor. "Let the army provide the facilities and we will provide the bearskins."

The mayor is an old hand at bearskin headgear. Two years ago he reoutfitted a British Guards regiment with bearskin hats by means of an organized hunt.

Polio Vaccine For Japan

VANCOUVER — One of the largest polio vaccine shipments to leave Canada — enough to provide over one million persons with one injection — was airlifted to Japan via Canadian Pacific Airlines this last weekend.

The 16,500-pound consignment was packed in cartons containing small glass bottles surrounded by sawdust. Following the flight across Canada, the shipment was loaded aboard a CPA jet-prop Britannia for the 4,700 mile fight across the North Pacific.

Demonstrate WCB Safety Techniques

The Workmen's Compensation Board has engaged two United States safety experts to demonstrate industrial safety techniques in a dozen Alberta communities next month.

The demonstrations will be conducted by G. M. Kintz and H. Browne of the U.S. Bureau of Mines and are part of a program to reduce the annual accident toll in the province. The compensation board has nick-named the lecture-demonstrations, "Project Igniter," and has invited accident prevention personnel from industry to attend.

The demonstrations are free and will deal with the prevention of fires and explosions, control of flammable and toxic gases, and hazards of static electricity.

The safety demonstrations will start in Brooks July 31. The team will be in Medicine Hat on August 1 and 2; Lethbridge, August 3 and 4; Pincher Creek, 7 and 8; Drumheller, 10 and 11; Calgary August, 14 to 16, Red Deer, 17 and 18; Edmonton, August 21 to 23; Vermilion, August 24 and 25, Grand Prairie, 28; Valleyview, 29; Drayton Valley, 30 and 31; and in Hinton, September 1.

When people try to explain the creation of the world they might as well go on and tell us about the universe, of which the earth is a very small part.

The New-Look Oriental Mou-Mou

From Boston nightshirts to Hawaiian mou-mous is a far cry, but fashion has taken an even more drastic step in its recreation of what was once so staid and simple.

The latest version, brought into vogue by the Broadway musical, "The World of Suzie Wong", has slits up the sides, a plunging neckline, and ribbon straps instead of full sleeves.

So something that was fashioned for comfort has lost its meaning, completely.

The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, her sister, Miss Caroline Smolarchuk, and Miss Jean Hackman, and the groom by his best men, Mr. Edward Wynnick and Mr. John Wlos.

100 Community Organizations Seek Anti-Discrimination Law

The Alberta government will be asked to enact a Fair Employment and a Fair Accommodation Practices Act aimed at curbing discrimination in the province.

The request will be made soon by human rights committees of Calgary and Edmonton. A brief will be submitted to stress the need for such action.

The move is being supported by about 100 community organizations in Alberta. They include church, business, labor, ethnic and service groups as well as citizenship councils.

It is the view of these groups that 99 of 100 discrimination cases never come to the attention of government or public. Equality of opportunities regardless of race, color or creed is requested in the draft brief.

Many cases of discrimination are never reported because no government agency exists to which victims of discrimination can bring their problems. Furthermore, persons subject to discrimination are reluctant to publicize such incidents, partly because they are aware there is no legislative or legal remedy in Alberta to solve their difficulties.

If anti-discrimination legislation were enacted, this would provide both the motivation for bringing such incidents to the attention of government and public and the possibility of remedying cases of racial and religious injustice.

There are many who argue legislation cannot effectively deal with racial bigotry. Their contention is that education is the answer. Taking issue with this view it is pointed out that such an approach ignores the vital role that legislation is playing and has played in the field of human relations.

Existing fair pratices laws in other provinces prove the effectiveness of legislation. Very rarely do complaints under the anti-discrimination laws reach the courts. They are usually settled by conciliation. Furthermore, existing legislation often prevents discrimination, the community groups argue.
